My dear Mr Fermin

I have received yours of the 3rd of January, containing the Cheque, and Certificates, one of which I return properly signed.

I thank you most sincerely for all the trouble I have occasioned you, I only lament that I can never have it in my power to repay you as I most sincerely desire.

The photographs will be placed with yours and Lord Houghton's in my little cabinet, near the miniature of my dear Brother.

Your note to me has been lost, and I am consequently not aware if you have received the the little portrait. It is considered a very good likeness; but certainly the lines of age are too slightly marked. I could not, however, induce John to yield to my opinion.

I have not yet determined about the investment of the money while you are arranging your accounts I shall have time to make up my mind.

Have the kindness to repeat your enquiries about the spectacles.

With kindest remembrances from all, believe me to remain

Yours very sincerely
Fanny Keats de L Llanos

I dont care loosing the book I mention to you, perhaps it is not worth much
